

INT. BEDROOM - NIGHTTIME

A messy bedroom with posters of David Bowie, Blondie, Heart, Fleetwood Mac, and The Go-Gos cover the walls. There is a large stack of vinyl records on the floor, makeup littered around the vanity, and a stick of incense burning on the nightstand.

The closet door is open, clothes are off their hangers, shoes scattered on the floor. A pile of clothes, belts, and purses lay on the bed.

An 80s-era TV in the corner is set to MTV. A stack of VHS tapes lay on top of the TV. The music video for "The Look" by Roxette plays on TV. The lyrics "She's got the look, she's got the look" play softly in the background.

A timer chimes.

DING DING.

A clattering sound can be heard in the bathroom next to the bedroom.

DING DING.

INT. BATHROOM - DAYTIME

The bathroom has bright pink tiles and a small mirror above the sink.

A teenage girl wearing a distressed t-shirt stands in front of the mirror, a plastic bag over her hair. She turns off the timer of a white kitchen dial timer. Next to the timer is an open platinum blonde hair dye box.

The TV's audio plays in the background. The lyrics "what in the world can make a brown-eyed girl turn blue?" play.

A pair of gloves, a salon hair dye brush, and a comb lay in the sink.

She unwraps the plastic bag around her head. Her hair is bright orange. She picks up the box of hair dye, looks at it in shock, then looks back up at her reflection.

She screams.
